

- What is the Coconino Sportsmen?

The Coconino Sportsmen, initially founded as the Arizona Game Protective Association in 1923, is the first conservation club formed and the longest active conservation organization in Arizona.

- Who are the Coconino Sportsmen?

The members of the Coconino Sportsmen are from all walks of life but each one shares a concern for wildlife and habitat improvement.

- What are the clubs affiliations?

The Coconino Sportsmen are affiliated with many prominent conservation groups on both the state and national level.

- What does the club stand for?

The Coconino Sportsmen are involved in efforts to conserve and wisely use all our natural resources, including land, water, forests and wildlife, to the best of our abilities. We do this so that future generations can use and enjoy those things important to us.

- What activities do they participate in?

The Sportsmen are involved with many conservation and educational projects, partnering with the U.S. Forest Service, the Arizona Game and Fish Dept., The Nature Conservancy and numerous others. We offer an annual Hunter education program, work on water and habitat improvement projects and assist other agencies and groups throughout the work season.

- Details, Dues, Meetings

The Sportsmen meet several times a year in addition to project dates. A frequent newsletter provides the meeting location as well as listing upcoming projects and issues. Dues are $15.00 per year for individuals and $30 .00 for Sponsor members, usually businesses that would like to contribute but are normally not very active in club activities.

- How can I benefit – contribute?

Your membership benefits you by your affiliation with local, state and national organizations, providing a voice for the sportsmen in the legislature and various government agencies. You also benefit by having an opportunity to be an active participant in events and issues that affect outdoor activities and conservation today and in the future. The club provides you with an opportunity to work on sound conservation projects, furthering our goal to wisely use natural resources and improve wildlife habitat for the years to come.

- How do I join?

Fill out the attached membership application and return it to the club mail box or give it to one of the members.

Won't you help? Join this worthwhile conservation club and make a difference to the local forests and wildlife habitat!
